

POLAR LIGHTS

Polar Lights did show its splendours
Spreading o'er Yamal its wing
Tell me, oh, Wond'r of Wonders,
Tell me, whereof did you spring?

Like a shot the skies broke burning
In bright multi-coloured way,
Starlets o'er the tundra darkened,
Scaring variegated rays.

Early did you o'er the Nenets
Just as nowadays spread your lights,
But we were forlorn and rightless,
So, there's none of your delights.

Now's sweet country of the Nenets
Is so cheerful everywhere,
We keep telling you so gladly,
"Northern Wonder, show flare!"

So Yamalers are resounding
No near 'nd far away,
"Those are Stars of mighty Kremlin
That's in northern sky do play!
